Auto Fad Endangers Lives

The current fad of cluttering up automobile dashboards and windshields with fuzzy gew-gaws presents a serious hazard to good vision and safe driving, says traffic experts. The monkey doll dangling in front of the driver's eyes along with spring-mounted birds, and other gadgets, is practically obscuring from view a car about to enter the highway just ahead. A moment earlier it would have completely obscured two people who can now be seen walking across the road. Besides getting into the driver's line of sight, these dangling doo-dads, being made so they jiggle all the time, add greatly to the strain of driving a car.

- No waiting, no delay. Thresh when you are ready and when grain is in best condition.
- Save labor and the necessity of going outside your immediate neighborhood for help at threshing time.
- Reduce the hazards of bad weather spoiling your crop while it waits in the shock.
- Save time and complete your threshing quickly, so that fields can be pastured or plowed early.
- Save grain. With you own outfit you can do the thorough kind of threshing you like—no rushing or crowding which usually results in part of the grain going into the straw stack.

SLITS IN BARK WHERE TREEHOPPER LAYS ITS EGGS

ADULT TREEHOPPER (ENLARGED)

Rough, scaly, cracked appearance of the bark on branches and twigs of fruit trees in the home garden may be the first indication that treehoppers are present. They especially like apple, peach, pear, cherry and quince trees. Prepare to battle them for trees or branches infested by treehoppers will never make vigorous growth.

In early fall the treehopper deposits its eggs in the bark of its favorite fruit trees or certain ornamental trees. The female has a sharp cutting tool with which she makes slits in the bark of trunk, branches or twigs. Through these slites she forces her eggs into the inner bark. The scar resulting from these slits later separates to form the double crescent shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. The wounds offer entrance for disease organisms.

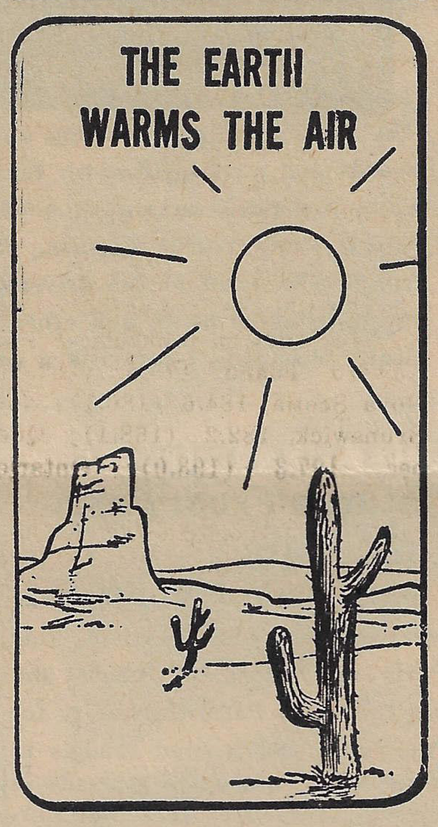

When the egg-laying period is over the adults of the treehopper die. An adwult treehopper is illustrated. The eggs remain embedded in the bark during winter. In the spring they hatch out into tiny nymphs, which drop from the trees and feed on weeds and grasses. They in turn reach the adult stage in August.

Tree sanitation is the best method of controlling treehoppers. This means keeping down all weeds and grassy growth under and around trees apt to be infested by treehoppers.

To kill the overwintering eggs of this pest spray infested trees with a dormant spray of six per cent oil. The use of dormant sprays, after the foliage has dropped has been found to kill from 75 to 100 per cent of the eggs so cunningly hidden by the female treehopper.

Treehoppers, incidentally, are rst cousins to the pestiferous leafhopper.

KNOW YOUR WEATHER

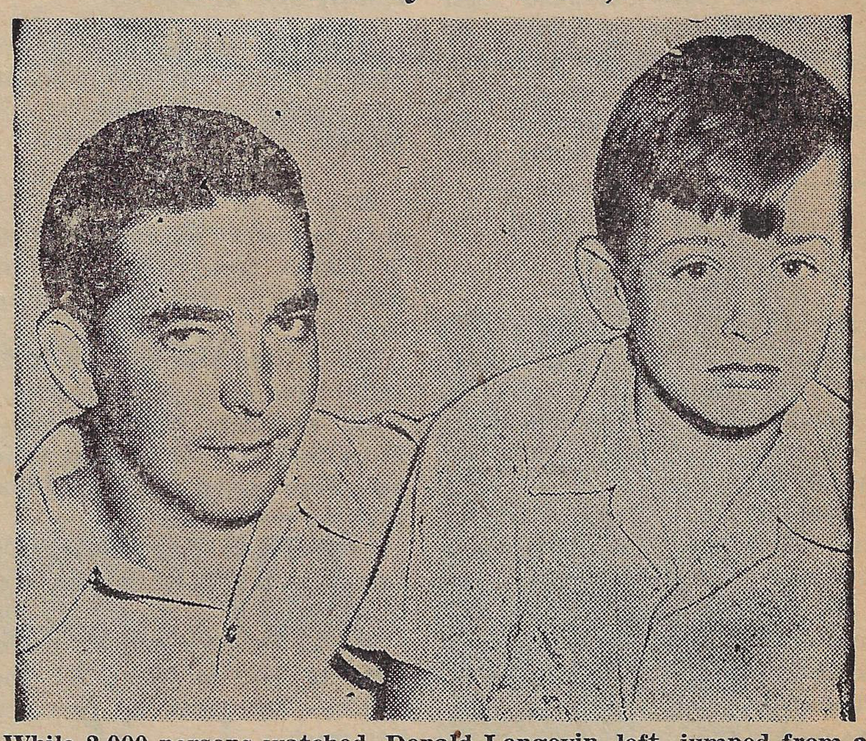

HEAT reaches the earth in the form of short waves from the sun. These waves pass through the air without warming it appreciably. The surface of the earth absorbs this heat and returns it to the air principally by contact (or conduction).

Wife Preservers

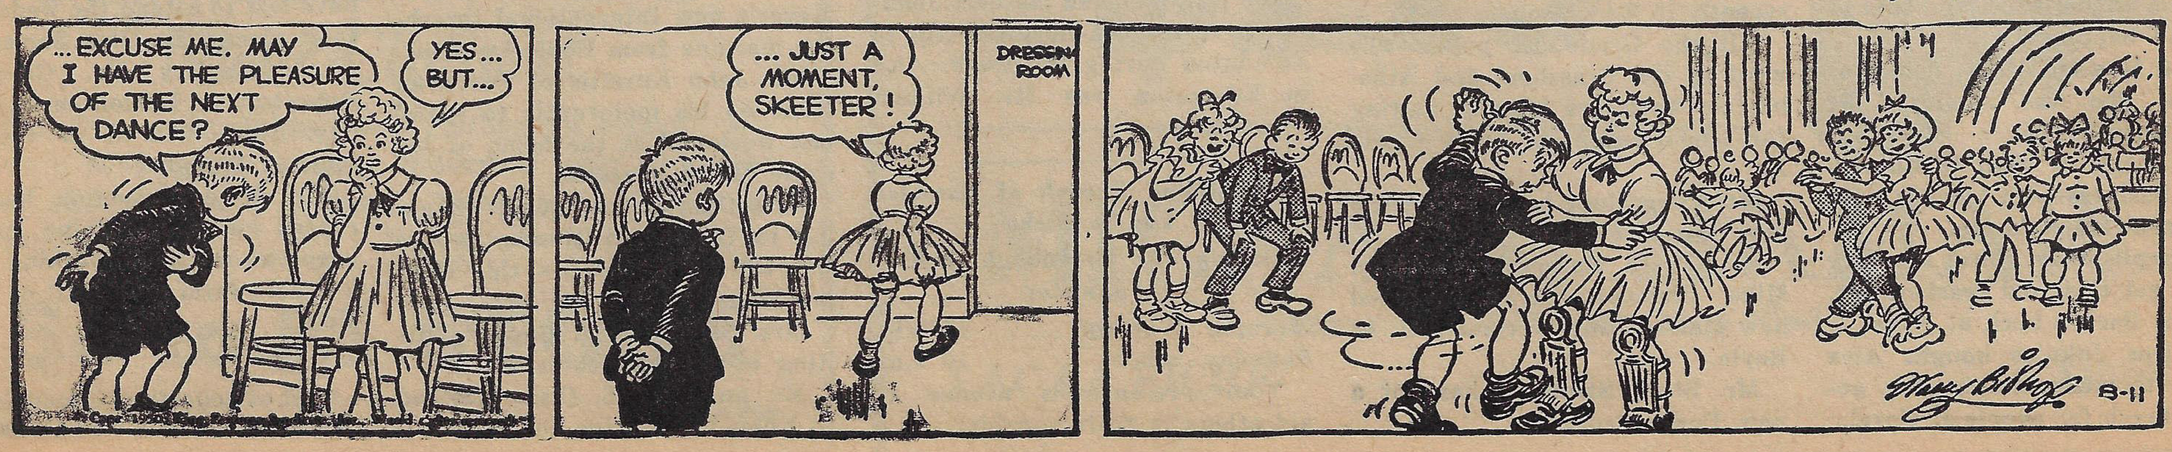

Rayon and wool blankets should be given the same care as all-wool blankets. They should be washed in warm suds and hung evenly to dry. Blankets containing rayon need no moth proofing, but if the blanket is part wool, it's best to use a moth preventative to protect the blanket.

Controversy Rising Over Alberta Development Plans

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

With Alberta in the midst of unparalleled development, through expanding oil fields, renewed industrial activity, and a booming construction business, a controversy is arising over plans for future development of the province's cities and metropolitan areas.

With L. E. Detwiler in the centre of a contentious debate over a proposed $25,000,000 'Miracle Mile' for downtown Edmonton, another figure is stirring speculation and discussion with an $8,000,000 'Super Suburb' scheme that would give Jasper Place, a sprawling community on Edmonton's western outskirts, 1,250 new homes.

He's Edward Litchfield, an ebullient, self-sure former Edmontonian who's spent the last decade at the coast in the construction business there.

Detwiler, and the Edmonton civic officials who stand behind him, including some of the commissioners and the town planner, and Litchfield, stand at opposite ends of the globe as far as planned development for Alberta is concerned.

"The trend all over North America is for decentralization," Litchfield told this reporter, and he went on to add that the Detwiler scheme was not in accord with present town planning schemes.

Litchfield would have Canada's Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation undertake financing of his 'Super Suburb' scheme for Jasper Place, with his construction firm doing the job of erecting the thousand-odd units that would go to make up the development.

Speaking of the proposed utility scheme for the same community, which would have the Dominion government finance water and sewers in Jasper Place as a civil defence emergency scheme, Litchfield said that the legislative set-up in Canada does not allow the federal government to step in over the head of the provincial government in such matters.

About 160 acres would be required for his aJsper Place program, and he is asking council there to select three possible sites on which provincial heads could consider locations for the development.

"Next year there may be a $20,000,000 fund in Alberta for such development,," said Litchfield. "It should be used wisely," he added.

"It's the heritage of every North American to own his own home, and his own land, to do with as he wishes, providing he doesn't interfere with the rights of his neighbors," said Litchfield.

"That's why millions of people left Europe," he continued, "and they came here willing to fight for that right."

He contends that his proposed scheme for Jasper Place would give that heritage to more than a thousand residents there, and that it could be duplicated all over the country.

In Vancouver Litchfield has undertaken two large-scale housing programs, one along the coast city's Grandview highway, and one along Marine Drive, which will be a $35,000,000 development by the time it is completed five years hence.

"New Schools for Old" Subject of CBC Broadcasts

By ETHEL TRUPP

Attention of radio listeners is drawn to the CBC series entitled "New Schools for Old."

Dr. S. R. Laycock, past president of the Canadian Federation of Home and School and now chairman of the School Education Committee of the Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation will give a series of six lectures which commenced Aug. 29. This series will be on the air at 8 p.m., MST. The series will deal with the following topics on the nights indicated:

Sept. 5—"School Children are People"—A discussion of how discipline in the modern school is different from the old way. This will include a discussion of the modern idea of thinking of behaviour as caused and the need for diagnosing problems in an intelligent fashion.

Sept. 12—"Better Ways of Teaching"—This will bring out the modern trend of teaching as Group Leadership rather than the teacher merely telling, explaining and lecturing.

Sept. 19—"Teachers Ancient and Modern"—The public still thinks of teachers as filling-station hands rather than as social engineers. The modern teacher must be intelligent, well-adjusted and resourceful.

Sept. 26—"The Slow Child in School"—He will deal here with the effects of failure and discouragement in the traditional school and the newer ways of helping such a child.

Oct. 3—"The Bright Child in School"—This will include discussion of what the bright child contributes to society, what he is like and how he should be handled in school.

Parents are requested to write their opinions of the broadcasts to G. F. Bruce c-o CBC.

The first recorded typewriter was patented in England in 1714.

Drunkeness No Excuse

"I didn't know what I was doing. I didn't really intend to hurt him" . . . "to crash into the car" . . . "to commit murder" . . . "to leave my child" . . . "to hit that policeman' . . . "You see, Your Honor, I was a little high!"

"I was intoxicated."

"I was under the influence of liquor . . ."

"I didn't mean to" . . . "The act was not premeditated . . ."

Intoxication as an excuse, twisted and turned this way and that, but still an excuse.

Something to lean on when common sense has gone.

An appeal to the court on the ground that all men have this common failing, and you, Your Honor, know that a man is not quite all there when he is drunk and shouldn't, therefore, be held responsible for what he does.

When is all this nonsense in our courts going to stop?

Drunkenness is no excuse and never can or should be held as such.

Drunkenness is a cause.

A man or woman who, when intoxicated, damages, injures, or kills, is and should be just as liable as the man or woman who, when sober, damages, injures, or kills.

To the dead child it makes no difference whether its killer was sober or intoxicated.

If anything, a sober killer is more likely to have taken precaution to avoid the death. The drunk killer is a killer whether in a car or with a gun or knife in hand.

Attention Governments

This editorial is directed to provincial and federal members of parliament and to senior civil servants.

But even if the idea it suggests is essentially sound, it will need the support of electors all over Canada to put it into effect.

Here is the idea. Would it not be more sensible for our federal and provincial governments, in decentralizing further their offices, to locate in cities and towns not already favored by expanding industrial growth?

In other words, why should not governments locate more branch offices in municipalities in which office space is less expensive, housing is easier to get, and in which the added employment potential would ease to some extent the jobless problem?

Certainly convenience in communication services is a factor in certain places but we wonder if this consideration is not more than offset by other gains.

Note and Comment

An investment in soil conservation, in reforestation, in wild life preservation, is a re-affirmation of our belief in leaving to our children a heritage of which they may be increasingly proud.

James Syme Hastings, who worked on the Cincinnati Enquirer in the early 1900's, contributed many famous sayings which are still used by current wits. Among them are the lines: "Every baby resembles the relative who has the most money." "Do right and fear no man; don't write and fear no woman" was another. Again, "Most husbands develop into pretty decent animals, considering the material their wives have to work with."

Municipal district councillors hereabouts who had an expensive time with winter-worn roads this spring might profit from this story by Earl Wilson.

A visitor asked a local councillor: "How are the local roads?"

"Fine," he replied. "We've abolished bad roads."

"Big job, wasn't it?" said the visitor.

"Not at all," the councillor said. "Whereever the going is particulary hard, we don't call it a road. We call it a detour."

"It Ain't Necessarily So"

By T. W. PUE

There is an old saying that figures don't lie—but liars can figure.

In the unemployment insurance game this does not hold true. In other ways, perhaps, but the very existence of Unemployment Insurance benefits gives us much greater unemployment figures than the true facts would bear out.

When a lady works and pays unemployment insurance, then gets married and quits her job to spend her time at housework instead of pushing the keys of a typewriter, is she unemployed? Of course not. But because of U.I.C. she registers as unemployed, and draws the benefits.

T. W Pue

Take another example. A small acreage farmer gets a job with a construction crew during the summer. He and his family work hard on their little farm to provide a livelihood, in addition to his construction job, Freeze-up comes, building slackens and he's out of work. Now if there was no unemployment insurance he'd go back home and do the daily chores without bothering to call himself unemployed. But because of out-of-work benefits he lists himself in the winter season army of idle workmen.

Carpenters are always considered a little higher paid because their work is seasonal. But there are always six weeks of bitterly cold weather when they'd rather get $18.00 a week from the government and be home by a warm fireside than $60.00 on the job. More unemployed, who wouldn't consider themselves as such if it weren't for the U.I.C.

"Unemployment Insurance is making bums out of some young men. They would rather take $18.00 a week in insurance than go where work is available."

This statement was not voiced by any reactionary, conservative industrialist.

It is the considered opinion, recently expresssed of a man intimately acquainted with the operation of our Unemployment Insurance Commission, and one who is entirely sympathetic to the plight of those who are jobless through no fault of their own.

He must remain anonymous because he is a senior civil servant, But his views are worthy of study .

Far too many Canadians look upon jobless insurance funds as money which they, themselves, have saved and, therefore, money which they have a right to dispose of as they see fit.

That, of course, is far from the case.

Jobless insurance funds are not the sum total of the savings of all Canadian workers. If each contributor decided to quit and draw all the unemployment insurance to which he or she is "entitled", the fund would be speedily broke.

While there are 585 million dollars in the federal unemployment insurance treasury, it is worth noting that in 1949, a year in which Canadian employment was at a high, the fund staged a very "close race" between costs and income.

Unemplyoment insurance is insurance and nothing more. It is intended to cover short term emergencies. It is paid out of funds contributed only one-third by the employee, and the balance by the employer and general tax-paying public.

Insurance is only good if it is paid out under sound, business principles.

It is not designed, and never was, to bonus idleness.

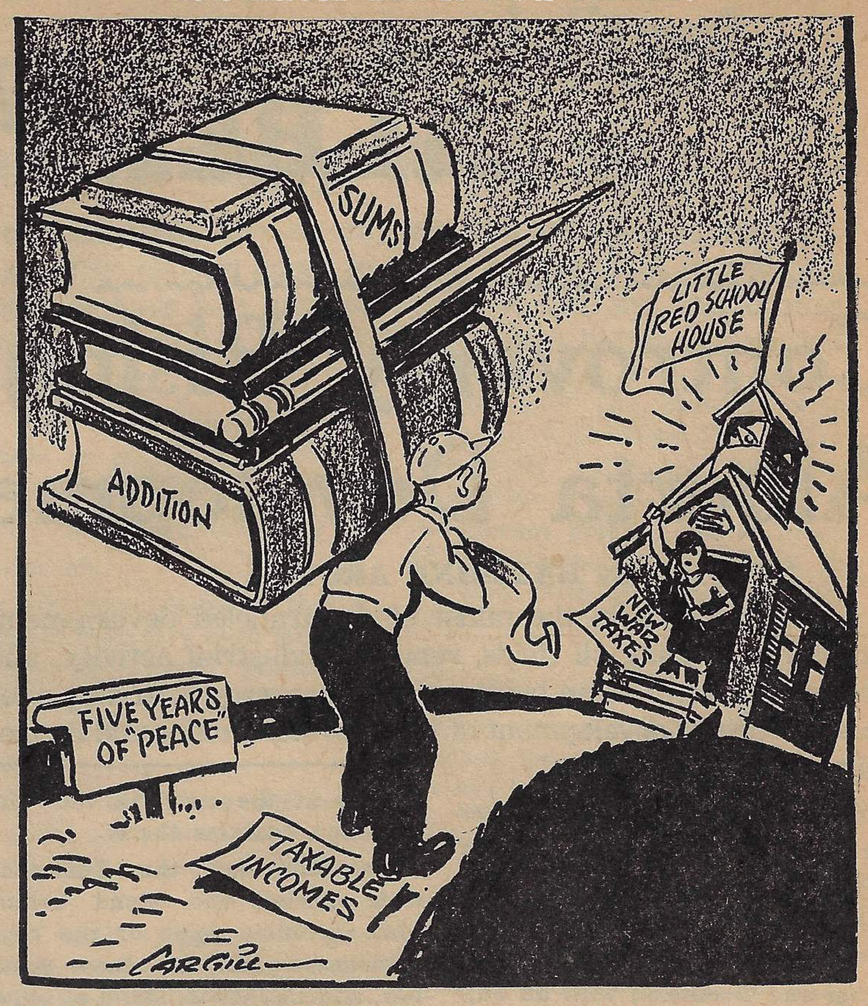

Scriptural Meditations

"When we come to ask mercy and blessing from God we should have a spirit of love and forgiveness in our own hearts. How can we pray, 'forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors,' (Matt. 6:12) and yet indulge an unforgiving spirit? If we expect our own prayers to be heard we must forgive others in the same manner, and to the same extent, as we hope to be forgiven,

"Perseverance in prayer has been made a condition of receiving. We must pray always, if we would grow in faith and experience. We are to be 'instant in prayer,' to 'continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving.' (Rom. 12:12; Col. 4:2) Peter exhorts believers to be 'sober and watch unto prayer.' (I Peter 4:7) Pau directs, 'In everything by prayer and supplication with thanks giving let your requests be made known unto God." (Phil. 4-6) 'But ye, beloved,' says Jude, "praying in the Holy Ghost, keep yourselves in the love of God.' (Jude 20:21)

"Unceasing prayer is the unbroken union of the soul with God, so that life from God flows into our life; and from our life, purity and hoiliness flow back to God." —STEPS TO CHRIST.

Keep Trucks Free

Dear Editor—If there was need of proof that truck transportation is an indispensable part of our economic life, the recent rail strike should resolve it once and for all . . . and it should demonstarte the threatening implications of federal control of highway transportation. This national transportation emergency would have been a national disaster if the trucking industry had not been free to play its full part in the nation's business.

It would be folly to jeopardize Canada's economic life in these critical years by denying the motor transport industry its natural growth. The recommendations of the railways in respect to meeting motor transport competition are economically unsound and politically undemocratic. All of Canada stands to lose if the federal government assumes control of highway transportation and inevitably proceeds to legislate it out of existence in response to pressure of railway management and labor.

Respectfully yours,

A. H. MUIR

Civil Service Lament

Dear Editor— In all the merry-go-round of Ottawa, thing's are at their worst in hot weather. The work slowed up so much this summer that the director sent the following circular to various offices in his department:

"It has been brought to the attention of this office that man employees have been dying while on duty for apparently no good reason at all. Furthermore, the same employees are refusing to fall down after they are dead. This practice must stop at once. On and after July 1, any employee found sitting up after he or she has died will be dropped from the payroll at once without further investigation under Regulation No. 29, section 89. Where it can be proved that the employee is being held up by a desk, drafting table or typewriter or any other support which is the property of the government a 90-day period of grace will be granted. The following procedure will be strictly adhered to: If after several hours it is noticed an employe has not moved or changed position, the department head will investigate. Because of the highly sensitive nature of our employees in regards to such things as death and their natural working attitude, the investigation will be made quietly so as to prevent waking the employe if he is asleep. If some doubt exists as to his true condition, extending a pay check is a fine test. If the employe does not reach for it, it may be reasonably supposed that he is dead. (Note: In some cases the instinct is so strongly developed, however, that a spasmodic clutcher reflex action may occur. Don't let this fool you.) In all cases a sworn statement by the dead person must be filled out on a special form provided for this purpose. Fifteen copies will be made, three copies will be sent to Ottawa and two copies to the deceased, the others will be promptly lost in the department files."

Bombs Away

Dear Editor—Stalingrad . . . Coventry . . . Cologne . . . Hamburg . . . Hiroshima . . . Nagasaki . . . Here then are six terrible examples of bomb destructiveness. How can there be any possible doubt in the minds of our public officials that these examples, one might almost say lessons, so widely publicized on this North American continent, demonstrate that the European concept of town planning with its accent on "Recentralization" is outdated. To prattle of parking problems in Edmonton and suggest greater concentration as a solution, is sheer nonsense. The public's instinctive trend is towards greater safety through "Decontralization," the movement lacks leadership therefor a degree of chaos exists.

The concentration of public buildings, warehouses, manufacturing plants and populations is a German concept of town planning developed primarily because of of land lack, and because it helped regimentation.

Projects of the nature of that at present being sponsored by City Commissioner Hodgson and Mr. Detwiler could be excellent markers for a bombing run.

Perhaps an atom bomb will never fall on Edmonton, but in the light of present and probable future conditions, who will dare predict that other types will not.

E. LITCHFIELD.

Edmonton.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON:

Christianity's Growth Possible Through Courageous Preachers

The growth of Christianity has been due largely to the fearless utterances of consecrated preachers who obeyed their conscience and dared the enmity and hostility of powerful and determined opposition.

When John Bunyan was in prison and threatened with banishment unless he desisted from preaching, he replied: "If I were out of prison today, I would preach the gospel again tomorrow, by the help of God."

When the Apostle to the Indians, Eliot, was threatened by them he replied "I am about the work of the Great God, and my God is with me; so I fear neither you nor all the Sachems in the country.

So it was with Martin Luther. During his conflict with the Pope, when he was summoned to the Diet of Worms, his friends begged him not to go. "Were there as many devils in Worms as there are tiles on the roofs, I would go," he replied. At Worms, asked to recant, he said, "I may not and will not recant. I can do nothing else; here I stand; so help me God, Amen."

Several months after Pentecost, the stir caused by the unusual events of that day had begun to subside when Peter and John inaugurated a new wave of amazement. As they passed the Beautiful Gate of the Temple, a well-known beggar, lame from birth, appealed for help. Unable to give financial aid, Peter restored him to health and strength —a much greater blessing than the beggar had asked for or expected. Immediately following, Peter preached to the crowd which gathered, boldly proclaiming Jesus as the Messiah, accusing the Jewish people of his death, and declaring that Jesus had been raised from the dead by God.

The Temple priests considered the teaching of religion their exclusive functions. The Sadducean party, to which the High Priest belonged, rejected the doctrine of immortality and naturally disliked the preaching of the Resurrection. Therefore, Peter and John were seized, lodged in prison over night, and in the morning brought before the assembled Sanhedrin, which had gathered to pass upon this new challenge to traditional religion.

Called upon to explain the power by which he had done such a miracle, Peter replied with boldness and courage. He frankly and affirmatively declared that his work had been done in the name of Jesus and accused the tribunal of crucifying the expected Messiah. Further than that, Peter declared that in Jesus alone was salvation and in no other, thus stating the exclusiveness necessary for complete faith in Jesus.

The members of the Sanhedrin were astonished at the bearing and utterances of these two men, whom they knew to be laymen and unskilled in theological instruction. They realized that these men had been companions of Jesus.

Seeing the formerly lame man standing healed in their midst, they could say nothing but warned the apostles not to continue with their teaching. However, Peter promptly answered that they would have to obey God rather than men.

Peter, before the Sanhedrin, was a different man from the denying fisherman only a short time before. Something had happened to him. Dr. J. H. Jowett points out what this war:

"He had been to the empty tomb. The awe of the resurrection is upon his spirit. And he had been by the lake on the morning of the reconciliation. The live coal from the altar of his Lord's love had touched him and had purged away the uncleanness of his denial. And he had been in the upper room at Pentecost, and the mighty Spirit had come upon him like wind and flame, endowing him with forceful and enthusiastic character. Now, he can dare for God, now he can work for God, now he can burn for God! And this is how he has been transformed."

Even in the cowardly, uncertain, boasting, arrogant, denying Peter, God saw possibilities. At times, it seems that God deliberately chooses those who have had the fiercest struggles before they gained an enduring faith. A famous piano manufacturer wrote his purchasing agents: "See to it that you buy only timber that comes from trees grown on hilltops, for when trees have battled with the wind and storm, there is more music in them."

Teachers Attend Banff Meeting

Sixty-five teachers selected from all parts of the province are attending the second annual Workshop of the Alberta Teachers' Association at Banff this week. The Workshop is conducted annually by the Alberta Teachers' Association for the purpose of developing interest in extra-curricular activities pertaining both to the affairs of the teachers and to the communities in which they work.

The Workshop offers four regular and one special course, each of which is headed by a consultant. The teacher-students are divided into four groups with each group having two half-day periods for each course.

C. R. Strother, professor of clinical psychology at the University of Washington, is the consultant in the course on group planning and Lars Olson, a past member of the provincial executive of the Alberta Teachers' Association, is conducting the course on administration in the Alberta Teachers' Association. Third course is on educational publicity and public relations and is headed by T. A. Shandro, Alberta Teachers' Association director of educational publicity and public relations. Gordon Wilkinson of the Trades and Labor Congress is the consultant in the course on collective agreements.

A special course on education writing is being conducted this year under direction of Howard M. Brier, professor of journalism at the University of Washington.

The 65 teachers met in general session Monday forenoon. Group classes are now being conducted and the final session Saturday will once again be a joint session for purpose of reports and evaluations.

An open forum on educational publicity and public relations was conducted Tuesday evening with prominent men of press and radio participating. On Thursday evening, a similar forum will be conducted on the topic, "Co-operation Within the School System."

Eric C. Ansley, general secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Teachers' Association and director of the Banff workshop, is in charge of organization.

Solution To This Week's Puzzle

The LIGHTER SIDE

Definite Rebuke

"I asked if I could see her home."

"And what did she say?"

"She said she'd send me a photo of it."

In Reverse

"Why didn't you enjoy your drive to Florida?"

"Well, we had to follow the main highways—all the detours were being repaired."

Same Clothes

"I don't like to say it, dear, but Fred doesn't seem to be as well dressed as when you married him three years ago."

"That's strange. I'm positive it's the same suit."

Pals

"Girls, my pal over there is going to surprise everybody at the party tonight by singing, so I guess I'll accompany him."

"On the piano?"

"No, to the hospital."

Patriotic Gesture

"So you traded in your old car, at last," said the persimist.

"Yes," said the optimist, "I'm not one to hold back on our defense program when the government needs scrap iron."

Melody Lingers On

"My daughter has arranged a little piece for the piano."

"Good! It's time we had a little peace."

Abstinence or Else

"So you attribute your longevity to abstinence from alcohol?" inquired the inquiring reporter.

And the centenarian admitted. "Yes, my wife would have killed me if I had touched a drop."

Not So Slow

Three men named Jones, all in the same line of business, opened shops next door to one another. The one on the right had the name "Jones" painted in large letters over the door. The one on the left immediately did the same thing.

The sign-painter then approached the centre Mr. Jones, asking him if he would like his name painted also.

"No," said the wily one. "I want you to paint the word 'Entrance,' over my door."

Letter to Louisa

Mother Thinks Married Son Should Stay With Her

Dear Louisa—I have an only son who has recently married. I have a large enough house to accommodate all of us and had expected to have him and his wife live with me, but during the past week he has been offered a much better paying job in another city.

His wife is anxious to go and he wants to go, in a way, and yet he hates to leave me alone. He feels that it is his duty to stay with me.

His wife has suggested that a nephew of mine stay with me, but that will only mean protection and not the companionship that my son and I have enjoyed together.

Don't you think the young folks owe us old ones something?

MOTHER.

Answer:

Yes. I think they owe you something, but not the ruination of their lives. From your letttr I think you are the selfish person in this instance, instead of your son.

To begin with, you are willing to keep him in an underpaid position and probably kill all of his ambition, and initiative in order to keep him tied on to your apron strings. Instead, you should be so happy over his promotion and be doing everything possible to make him do the best that he can.

You are apparently an able-bodied well woman. Why can't you rent out part of your house or get some congenial woman to come and live with you? There are so many things for you to be interested in that you must cease depending on your son for all of the companionship you have hitherto enjoyed.

You must remember that he is married now and that his wife is supposed to come first. Unfortunately, while you will both be as dear to each other as ever, you cannot possibly see as much of one another as you have in the past, without causing disatisfaction between him and his wife.

A wife has her place and a mother hers, and it is well not to demand too much.

Good luck,

LOUISA.

Alberta Crops Reported Later than Normal

Alberta crops are two to three weeks later than normal, Hon. David Ure, minister of agriculture, reported last week. Harvesting is becoming general in the south, with yields of five to twenty bushels in some areas, he said.

Mr. Ure stated that average yields west and north of the Killam line probably will be between 15 and 25 bushels per acre, but harvesting will not be general in this area from one to two weeks. East and north of Edmonton the average yield has been estimated at between five and 17 bushels.

Prospects for forage seed crops are generally fair.

A hailstorm which struck several districts two weeks ago, is reported to have caused damage to 50,000 acres between Daysland and Czar.

Condition of livestock continues fair to good. The fall pasture outlook is mostly good. Reports on the second hay crop indicate only fair to poor yields, but other fodder is generally sufficient for requirements.

Despite good pastures, cream production for buttermaking continues below the same period last year. Fewer cows are being milked. It is believed that current high prices for slaughter cattle has resulted in the sale of many marginal producers.

Latest Rural Electrification Project Opens

The Borradaile district just east of Vermilion was the scene of a happy gathering recently when the residents of that district and many interested friends met to celebrate the completion of the latest addition to the ever-growing list of Co-operative Rural Electrification projects that continue to extend the comforts conveniences and economies of electrification to rural Alberta.

The gathering place was Union school, established in 1909, and it is interesting to find that among those who were mainly instrumental in bringing electricity to this area of seventy square miles, there were three of the original students at this school.

The highlight of the afternoon was when, ushered in by the martial strains of the bagpipes played by Pipe Major Angus McMillan and Roderick McMillan, Wop May of Canadian Pacific Airlines turned the switch.

Among the visitors present was the mayor of Vermilion, Mr. W. P. Pilkie who recalled some of his early experiences when he started farming in this district in 1907. Mr. John Melenka, Alberta Master Farmer from Warwick congratulated the association. He stated that his farm had been electrified for just about a year and, as a result of his experience, was convinced it was the best investment he had ever made. The Borradaile project would, he was sure, prove equally satisfactory to the farmers of the area to be served and in its broader aspects marked one step more towards the completion of the electrification of rural northeastern Alberta.

Mr. Steve Hawrelak represented Canadian Utilities Limited and expressed appreciation of the fine co-operation he had had from the board of directors and others during the process of organization.

The president of the Borradaile Rural Electrification Association is Mr. Hugh Stewart and associated with him as directors are Messrs. Charles Pearman, Bill Gillman, William Walker, Kenneth Watt, Donald Harrison and Robert Galloway. Mr. R. D. Mitchell of Vermilion is the secretary-treasurer.

The economy of Newfoundland rests primarily upon three industries—fishing, mining, pulp and paper and other forest products.

Quebec's Meteoritic Crater Said Biggest on Earth

The largest known meteoritic crater in the world, the famed El Diabolo in Arizona, which is about three-quarters of a mile across from lip-to-lip, will have to give way to a basin discovered in the moss-covered granite plain in northern Quebec.

A party of Canadian explorers say that the newly-discovered crater is two and one-half miles wide. An aerial photograph of a newly found lake in a circle of rock attracted the attention of prospectors and led to the expedition that is now convinced that the five hundred and fifty-foot deep hole is of meteoric origin although further investigation must follow before the assertion can be positively made.

Dr. V. Ben Meen, director of the Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy, thinks that the mass of the meteorite would be deep underground. He places the time of the cosmic collision, in which at least 10,000,000,000 tons of rock were gouged out of the face of the earth, at 3,000 to 5,000 years ago. He reasons that the absence of mention of the catastrophe in Eskimino or Indian folklore sets the minimum estimate and the maximum estimate is based upon the failure of the last retreating glacier to disturb the churned up rock.

The visitations of meteorites and "shooting stars" are somewhat mysterious but the scientists believe that they are the result of the explosion of an earth-size planet between Mars and Jupiter.

Meteorites often enter the earth's atmosphere but most of them are very small. Intensely heated by friction when they reach the earth's atmosphere they are usually consumed before reaching the ground. If falling at night, they appear as a ball of fire, frequently leaving a brilliant train of sparks behind. Sometimes they burst in a loud explosion.

An unusual display of meteorites often occurs in the month of August, when the earth passes through an area which annually produces a number of "shooting stars."

Alberta Grain Harvest Starting

Crops have made good progress during the past week under favorable weather conditions, and cutting will be general this week. General conditions are fairly good except where the hail and frost have been severe, says the weekly crop report of the United Grain Growers.

EGG LAKE NOTES

Mr. James Chapman, daughter Evelyn and Miss Eleen Olson motored from Edmonton on August 26 to see Mr. Chapman's sister, Mrs. H. Olson. He took back his wife and daughter Betty Lou who had been staying at Olson's for the past two weeks.

Jos Girard has acquired a new tractor and new binder.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Leon L'Heureux, on the birth of their son.

Harvesting is in full swing now. Some crops are fair but many are too short to cut with the binder.

Mrs. Jos Girard spent three days in Lac la Biche visiting Mrs. Jos Malouvet. Mrs. Malouvet has to live alone now. Her husband is still in hospital and she lost her only son some time ago. He died at Edmonton General hospital following an operation. Sympathy goes to Mr. Malouvet, who has been a resident of Egg Lake for many years.

Council of Churches Deplores Class Struggle in Canada

The Canadian Council of Churches this week issued a statement deploring class struggle and said it is opposed to all class domination "whether of powerfully organized business or agriculture or labor."

The council, which represents most of the country's Protestant churches, said in a prepared statement that labor and management alike must never forget that "true freedom creates more freedom while false freedom steadily destroys itself."

The message, offered for the assistance of ministers in preparing Labor Sunday services and distributed by the social service boards of the various churches, said the churches believe in the possibility of establishment of a Christian economic society.

Such a society, the statement continued, calls for "the extension into economic life of the ethical principles of freedom, justice and brotherhood as well as the democratic principles of liberty, equality and fraternity.

The Netherlands forces in the homeland last year numbered 80-000, while their forces in Indonesia numbered 84,000.
